WELCOME TO TEL AVIV

Welcome to Tel Aviv! We, your hosts, the Tel Avivians, are both happy and proud to have you here! That you've decided to come visit our friendly shores means that our secret's out (that's fine – we love to share!); Tel Aviv is really one of the world's top gay cities, both for our citizens and for you visitors. Sure, not all is rosy – but boy, a whole lot of it is...

Many of us come from elsewhere in the world; you will be surprised that all that Spanish, Russian, Portuguese, French and English you hear on the streets as you walk about are not just words spoken by your fellow visitors during Pride Week; no - we come from across the globe, and we like to think that we've brought with us many of the things that make a truly great world city. We've got wonderful food and drink, a truly fantastic arts scene, fabulous shopping (and no, it's not just Louis Vuitton and Gucci – instead, check out our unique local brands!), UNESCO-protected architecture, complicated (but cool...) locals - and the weather, well, that comes for free...

Now, one of the things for which we, rightfully, have become known, is our nightlife; and we'd like to put your stamina to the test this week, because Tel Avivians know how to party – and, unlike in many other main gay party capitals, one of the best things about Tel Aviv's infamous tiles is that we ALL love to go out; old and young, queer and straight – and we do it any time of the week. To boot, within very short distances, you can find yourself downing shots in a real dive with dykes, dancing on the bar with a granny, getting busy in a darkroom, or falling out of a world class club at midday (courtesy of our very relaxed licensing laws...)

So come join us; at the beach (Hilton Pride Beach will be at its hottest...), in the bars, in the clubs or on the streets – we love to make new friends.

And don't be intimidated if we seem a little standoffish; as you may have heard, many Israelis are like a "sabra", or, in English, a "cactus", we may seem tenacious, rough and thorny, but give it a shot, and you'll soon discover our sweet, softer interiors...

Tel Aviv Pride is one of the city's, and indeed Israel's, essential summer events, and the Pride festivities and cultural activities are fully supported – both morally and financially - by local government. Tel Aviv Pride is not just an LGBT event; Israelis throughout the country (and even from abroad) are flocking to the city during Pride Week, joining tens of thousands of international visitors.

In fact, by taking part in Tel Aviv Pride, you're celebrating the biggest LGBT event in the Middle East. Obviously, the less accommodating attitude towards LGBT, which is experienced in most of our neighbouring countries, means that it's a long way from Tel Aviv to the next major LGBT event. However, even by international standards, "our Pride" is making waves – and we hope you'll enjoy both the parade, the cultural events and the beach party; the latter is the biggest of its kind anywhere in the world.

BEYOND TEL AVIV

While most of us could happily spend a whole holiday in Tel Aviv, enjoying the sights, the sounds and the sea, it would be a shame not to venture further afield.

Israel is much smaller than most people think, and it's easy and safe to get around.

Jerusalem is less than an hour away by either bus, taxi or train, and destinations such as The Dead Sea, Bethlehem or Acre only slightly further.

However, despite its diminutive size, it is still easy to find your own private spot out there – Israel offers a plethora of nature reserves, each with unique wildlife and vegetation, as well as lodging opportunities to suit any budget.

So why not get out of the city for a day or two and enjoy another side of our beautiful country?

10 MUST DO'S

01 /

The Old City of Jaffa

The unification of Tel Aviv and Jaffa in 1950 brought together one of the world's newest cities with one of its oldest. You can easily spend a day wandering around the cobbled streets and atmospheric alleyways, enjoying street food, perusing galleries, and taking in the beautiful view of the Mediterranean Sea.

02 /

Neve Tzedek

Tel Aviv at its quaintest, Neve Tzedek is the city's first Jewish neighbourhood, and is packed with elegantly restored mansions, cafes and chichi boutiques

03 /

Rothschild Blvd.

Rothschild Boulevard: the closest Tel Aviv gets to Champs-Élysées. The city's parade street is busy at any time, day or night; gorgeous colonial buildings, fancy restaurants and busy business bees...you get the drift

The Carmel Market

Possibly the closest Tel Aviv properly gets to a real Middle Eastern souk or bazaar, the Carmel Market is where true Tel Avivis pick up their groceries. From fresh fish to a new fridge; you name it, they've got it

05 /

Shopping - Dizengoff Center and Azrieli Mall

These two inner-city shopping malls are packed with all the brands you know - and some you don't. Like the rest of the city, these shopping meccas are busy day and night. Local clothes brands are surprisingly affordable (and much more chic than you'd think)

06 /

Clubbing

Let's not beach around the bush - Tel Aviv nightlife is nuts. despite Tel Aviv having less than half a million inhabitants, the bars and clubs here are absolutely heaving; take your pick!

HaTachana

The Hebrew name for the old Jaffa railway station. This area has recently been transformed into one of Tel Aviv's trendiest spots, located next to Neve Tzedek. HaTachana has a selection of cafes, restaurants and boutique fashion shops

Hilton and Ga'ash beach

The two Primary gay beach hangouts; Hilton Beach is the flashy, fun and happening strip of sand aptly situated beneath the Tel Aviv Hilton. Ga'ash, some 15 minutes north by taxi, is perfect for sunbathing in the nude (and there's action aplenty in the dunes...wink wink)

Dining in Tel Aviv

While you're here, don't miss dining out at one of the world-class restaurants Tel Aviv offers. Tel Aviv truly is the gastronomic capital of the Middle East with a plethora of high-end eateries catering to any taste

Tel Aviv Port and Jaffa Port

The now much-loved Namal Tel Aviv (Tel Aviv Port) is packed to the rafters on weekends, and it's easy to see why, now that the area has been gentrified to a high standard, without losing its sense of place. The same can be said for the recent gentrification of Jaffa Port. Plenty of eating places and shops make for a perfect day out
